By accessing the Site, you are consenting to the information collection and use practices described in this privacy statement. We encourage you to read the entire policy and check this page periodically for any changes or updates.

INFORMATION COLLECTION

In this policy, the terms "we," "us," or "our" refer to VoIPstreet. We will ask you when we need information that personally identifies you or allows us to contact you to provide a service or carry out a transaction that you have requested such as receiving information about our products and services. The personal information we collect may include your name, title, company or organization name, work e-mail, work phone, home phone, work or home address, information about your job function, information about your company, credit card information as well as information used for credit checks, billing, and payment, and other information we may need to establish an account. We also collect personally identifiable information about you when you communicate with us for support, maintenance, billing, and send us e-mails.

We receive and store any information you enter on our Web site or give us in any other way. The Site may also collect certain information about your visit, such as the name of the Internet service provider and the Internet Protocol (IP) address through which you access the Internet; the date and time you access the Site; the pages that you access while at the Site and the Internet address of the Web site from which you linked directly to our site. We may use your personal information to provide you with important information about the product or service that you are using.

Applicable law authorizes VoIPstreet to disclose personal information for the following purposes, if the disclosure is: Necessary to render, or conduct a legitimate business activity related to the services provided to you; or required by law or legal process.

VoIPstreet employs other companies and individuals to perform functions on our behalf such as processing credit card payments, and providing customer service. They have access to personal information needed to perform their functions, but are not permitted to use it for other purposes.

As we continue to develop our business, we might merge, acquire, sell or buy companies, subsidiaries, or business units. In such transactions, customer information generally is one of the transferred business assets but remains subject to the promises made in any pre-existing Privacy Notice (unless, of course, the customer consents otherwise). Also, in the unlikely event that VoIPstreet, or substantially all of its assets are acquired, customer information will of course be one of the transferred assets.

We reveal only the last five digits of your credit card numbers when confirming an order. Of course, we transmit the entire credit card number to the appropriate credit card company during order processing.

You can always choose not to provide information.

LEGAL DISCLAIMER

We make every reasonable effort to protect your privacy as described in this Policy. Nevertheless, we may be required by law to disclose personal information without your consent and without notice in order to comply with a valid legal process such as a subpoena, court order, or search warrant. We may also use or disclose personal information about you without your consent to protect our customers, employees, or property, in emergency situations, to enforce our rights in court or elsewhere, or directly with you, and for violations of our terms of service and policies.
